Christian Statom (Homework Help) has retrocollis. After seeing a specialist, he will be waiting until after high school for surgery unless his condition worsens.

Christian Statom's grandmother may have to have a stent or open-heart surgery this week. Could be a blockage or damage due to chemo treatments.

Roy Deer saw a pulmonologist. It is believed that he does not have cancer or a tumor; instead, may have some type of infection, fungus or mold growing in his right lung and the left lung is enlarged as it compensates for the right side. Further procedures are planned.

Ann Baker (Carolyn Dollens' sister) has been moved to rehab in New Albany. Ann suffered from strokes last week and had been in the ICU.

Kathy Hanshaw is having knee surgery at OrthoIndy on January 23rd.

Noah Logsdon's niece, Bobbie Nehru, passed away Wednesday. The funeral was yesterday.

Charlie Weaver was admitted to Johnson Memorial last week due to low blood pressure and shingles. He was released and returned home yesterday.

Shelby Henderson's niece, Zoey, has an eye infection and is in Riley Hospital for treatment.

Shelby Henderson's dad is sick with a fever and cough.

Teachers Needed

We are looking for teachers with Toddlers and 4-6th Grade Wednesdays for the next quarter. Please see Angie Turnmire if interested.

Hearts for Souls 2019

We are currently collecting the following items: New shoes for all ages, new hats/gloves/scarves (can also be made) for all ages and new toys for newborn to teens. More items will be announced throughout the year. These gifts can be in any price range so please do not bring in used items. As you bring in items, please place them in the totes just outside the coat closet. More information will be given in the weeks to come.

God Stories | Tripp Prince | Wisdom Hunters

*But the Lord is faithful, and he will strengthen you and protect you from the evil one.
2 Thessalonians 3:3 (NIV)*

A friend of mine was telling me about an experiment of sorts that he and his community group at church have recently begun. Each time they gather together, the bulk of their discussion time is spent answering just two basic questions, "What has God done for you this week?" and "What have you done for God?" While at face value these may seem overly simplistic or basic, he said the results have been profound. In particular, it creates a culture of expectation and shared experience. Here's what I mean.

It is incredibly easy to sleep our way through life. We numb ourselves with food, drink, and entertainment, failing to see the faithful hand of God at work in our lives and communities. Yet taking time daily or weekly to ask yourself, "What has God done for me this week?", has the potential to profoundly reorient your vision and awaken you to spiritual realities. It means you live with a deep and unshakable sense of expectation that God hears our prayers and responds to them. There's a subtle but significant difference between openness to God and expectancy in prayer. One is willing to be surprised, the other lives with hopeful anticipation and eagerness to see God at work in our daily lives.

As we learn to live expectantly, asking the Holy Spirit to give us eyes to see and ears to hear, we must also learn to share these “God stories” with one another! Life is remarkably cyclical, where in one season of life we may find ourselves filled with hope, joy, and anticipation, and in another season be in the greatest depths of pain, sorrow, and despair. When you are at the highest heights of joy, it isn’t simply for your own satisfaction but is meant to be shared with others, especially those in seasons of great trial, as a way to encourage them and remind them of God’s faithfulness. True Christian community is one in which the weak are welcomed and supported and loved, and one in which the strong know their strength isn’t just for themselves but is a way to lift up others in their time of distress.

God is faithful to draw near to his people and lead them through life’s journey into the joy of life eternal, lived in his Kingdom. May we learn to expectantly see him at work in the present, and as we do, share our God stories with others so we can together celebrate his faithfulness, goodness, and love!

*“Your faithfulness continues through all generations; you established the earth, and it endures”
(Psalm 119:90).*
